International Mother Language Day

International Mother Language Day is celebrated on 21st February every year. It is a very important day for the people of Bangladesh. This day remembers the brave people who gave their lives in 1952 to protect the Bangla language. They fought for the right to speak their own mother tongue. Because of their sacrifice, we can now speak Bangla freely.

People show respect by going to the Shaheed Minar and offering flowers. Schools, colleges, and offices hold special programs. Songs, poems, and speeches are shared to remember the martyrs. This day teaches us to love and respect our own language. It also reminds us that language is a part of our identity.

International Mother Language Day is not only for Bangladesh. Now, the whole world celebrates it. In 1999, UNESCO declared 21st February as International Mother Language Day. This helps people around the world understand the value of their mother languages.

In conclusion, International Mother Language Day is a proud day for us. We must always remember the sacrifice of our language heroes and love our mother tongue.

A Winter Morning

A winter morning is cold, quiet, and full of fog. The sun rises very late, and the sunlight is weak. Everything around looks white and misty. People can't see clearly because of the thick fog. The air is cold, and sometimes we can see smoke coming out of our mouths while talking. People wear warm clothes like sweaters, jackets, and scarves to stay warm.

On a winter morning, many people enjoy drinking hot tea or coffee. In villages, people drink fresh date juice called khejur rosh. Mothers make tasty winter foods like pitha and khichuri. Rich people enjoy the morning, but poor people suffer because they don't have warm clothes.

Children and old people usually stay at home. School students go to school with cold hands and red noses. Farmers go to work early with blankets on their shoulders. Birds look sleepy and sit quietly on trees. The grass is full of shiny dewdrops which look like small pearls.

In conclusion, a winter morning is cold but beautiful. It gives peace to our mind and joy to our heart. We must help poor people during this season and enjoy the fresh and calm nature of winter mornings.

The City I Live In

I live in Sylhet, one of the most beautiful cities in Bangladesh. It is located in the northeast part of the country. Sylhet is famous for its green hills, tea gardens, rivers, and natural beauty. Many people visit Sylhet every year to see places like Jaflong, Ratargul, Bichanakandi, and Hazrat Shahjalal's Mazar.

Sylhet is also known for its clean roads and fresh air. The people of Sylhet are friendly and helpful. Many people from Sylhet live in the UK and send money home, which helps our local economy grow. The food here is also very tasty, especially the seven-layer tea and traditional fish dishes.

There are many schools, colleges, and hospitals in the city. It is a good place for education and treatment. The weather in Sylhet is nice, and the city is full of green trees and quiet places.

In conclusion, I feel proud to live in Sylhet. It is a peaceful and beautiful city with kind people and natural charm. I love my city very much and want to keep it clean and safe always.

Early Rising

Early rising means waking up from bed early in the morning. It is a very good habit. A person who wakes up early gets more time to do daily work. The morning air is fresh and full of oxygen, which is good for our health. The rising sun, singing birds, and calm weather make the morning beautiful.

Early risers can enjoy a peaceful time to read, study, or take a walk. It also helps students to learn better, because the mind stays fresh in the morning. People who wake up early can eat breakfast on time and never feel rushed. They stay more active and happy throughout the day.

On the other hand, people who wake up late often feel lazy and miss many good things in life. They also get less time to do important work.

In conclusion, early rising is a healthy and helpful habit. It gives us more energy, better health, and a peaceful mind. So, we should all try to wake up early every day and make it a part of our life.

A Garment Worker

A garment worker is a person who works in a garment factory. In Bangladesh, many people work in the garment industry. Most of them are poor and come from villages. They work very hard to earn money for their families.

Garment workers start their work early in the morning and work for long hours. They make clothes that are sold in other countries. Their job is very important for our country because garments bring in a lot of money. But their life is not easy. They often get low salaries and have to work in crowded places. Sometimes they do not get enough rest or proper safety.

Even though their work is hard, they help our country's economy grow. Many families live better lives because of the money earned by garment workers.

In conclusion, a garment worker plays an important role in our country. We should respect their hard work and try to make their lives better. They are the backbone of the garment industry in Bangladesh.

A Rainy Day

A rainy day is a day when it rains a lot. The sky remains cloudy and the sun is not seen. Sometimes there is thunder and lightning. Roads become muddy and full of water. People carry umbrellas or raincoats when they go outside. On a rainy day, life becomes slow and quiet.

Most students and office workers find it hard to go to school or work. Sometimes, schools remain closed because of heavy rain. People who live in low areas suffer the most because rainwater enters their homes. But many children enjoy playing in the rain and making paper boats.

On rainy days, people love to eat warm food like khichuri, egg curry, or fried snacks. Nature looks fresh and green after the rain. Trees and plants drink the rainwater and look happy.

In conclusion, a rainy day has both good and bad sides. Though it can cause trouble for many people, it also brings beauty and peace to nature. A rainy day gives us a different feeling and breaks the routine of daily life.

Child Labour

Child labour means making children work like adults to earn money. It is a big problem in many poor countries, including Bangladesh. Many children are seen working in shops, factories, hotels, and even on the streets. These children are often very young, and they miss their chance to go to school and enjoy childhood.

Most of these children come from poor families. Their parents cannot afford food, clothes, or education, so the children are forced to work. Some people also take advantage of them by giving them less money for hard work. As a result, their health becomes weak, and their future becomes dark.

Child labour is harmful to both children and society. It keeps children away from education and a better life. They grow up without proper knowledge or skills.

In conclusion, child labour must be stopped. Every child has the right to education, safety, and a happy life. The government and people should work together to remove child labour and give children a better future.

Unemployment Problem in Bangladesh

Unemployment is one of the most serious problems in Bangladesh. It means that many people in the country do not have jobs to earn a living. This problem is growing day by day, especially among the young people. It creates sadness, poverty, and many social problems in our country.

Firstly, the main reason for unemployment is overpopulation. There are more people than jobs in Bangladesh. Secondly, our education system is not job-based. Many students study only for certificates but do not learn useful skills. Moreover, there are not enough factories or industries in our country to give work to everyone. Corruption and lack of good planning also make the problem worse.

As a result, many educated young people are sitting at home without jobs. Some of them go abroad to find work, but many others feel hopeless. Unemployment also increases crimes, drug use, and frustration in society. People cannot buy food, clothes, or medicine, which leads to more poverty.

To solve this problem, the government must take strong steps. More technical education should be given so that students can learn useful skills. New industries and small businesses should be built to create more jobs. People should also try self-employment, like farming, freelancing, or small shops.

In conclusion, unemployment is a big danger for our country's future. We must work together to solve this issue. If the government and the people try their best, we can reduce unemployment and build a better life for everyone.

Our Cultural Heritage

Cultural heritage means the traditions, customs, language, music, food, dress, and historical places that a country has. Bangladesh has a rich and beautiful cultural heritage. It shows who we are and where we come from. Our culture is full of love, peace, and unity.

Firstly, the language of Bangladesh is Bangla. We are proud of our language because our people gave their lives in 1952 to save it. This is why we celebrate International Mother Language Day on 21st February.

Secondly, our traditional dress is also part of our culture. Men wear panjabi, lungi, and pajama, while women wear saree and salwar-kameez. On special days like Eid or Pohela Boishakh, people wear colorful traditional clothes.

Moreover, our festivals are very important. We celebrate Eid, Durga Puja, Buddha Purnima, Christmas, and the Bengali New Year (Pohela Boishakh) with great joy. These festivals bring people together and create harmony.

Our music and dance are also special. Baul songs, folk songs, and classical music are loved by people. Instruments like dhol, tabla, and flute are part of our musical tradition. We also enjoy Jatra, a kind of village drama.

In addition, our food is also part of our heritage. Rice, fish, dal, pitha, and sweets like roshogolla and sandesh are loved in every home. Each region has its own special dishes.

Lastly, Bangladesh is full of historical and cultural places like the Lalbagh Fort, Ahsan Manzil, Mahasthangarh, and the Sundarbans. These places remind us of our past and attract visitors from around the world.

In conclusion, the cultural heritage of Bangladesh is our pride. It connects us with our history and teaches us to respect each other. We must protect and love our culture for the future generation.

Importance of Physical Exercise

Physical exercise means the movement of our body to keep it fit and healthy. It is very important for everyone, especially for students. Physical exercise keeps our body strong, our mind fresh, and helps us live a better life.

Firstly, physical exercise helps us stay healthy. It keeps our muscles strong and our heart active. People who do regular exercise suffer less from diseases like high blood pressure, diabetes, and obesity. Exercise also improves digestion and blood circulation.

Secondly, it is very good for our mental health. When we do exercise, we feel fresh and happy. It removes stress and helps us sleep better. Students who exercise regularly can concentrate more in their studies.

Moreover, physical exercise teaches us discipline and time management. Playing games or doing morning walks on time makes us responsible. Sports like football, cricket, or running also improve teamwork and leadership skills.

On the other hand, if we don't exercise, we may become lazy and unhealthy. It can make us weak and tired. Many people who avoid exercise face health problems as they grow older.

There are many kinds of exercises. Walking, running, swimming, cycling, and playing outdoor games are very good. Even small daily activities like stretching or climbing stairs can help us stay active.

In conclusion, physical exercise is a must for a happy and healthy life. It helps both body and mind. We should all make it a part of our daily routine. A healthy body brings a happy life, and a happy life helps us achieve our goals.

My Childhood Memories

Childhood is the happiest time of life. Everyone has sweet memories of their childhood. My childhood memories are full of fun, love, and joy. These memories always make me smile and feel warm inside.

Firstly, I remember playing with my friends in the open field near my house. We used to play games like cricket, hide and seek, and football. Those days were full of laughter and happiness. I also remember the colorful kites we flew during the festivals.

Secondly, my family played a big part in my childhood. I used to spend a lot of time with my parents and grandparents. They told me stories and taught me good manners. I also remember celebrating my birthday with cakes and gifts. These moments made me feel very special and loved.

Moreover, my school days were also a big part of my childhood memories. I loved going to school and learning new things. My teachers were kind and helped me a lot. School friends were like my second family, and we shared many happy moments together.

On the other hand, childhood was not only about fun but also about learning important lessons. I learned how to be patient, kind, and honest from my experiences.

Finally, my childhood memories are very precious to me. They have shaped who I am today. Whenever I feel sad or tired, I think about those happy days and it gives me strength.

In conclusion, childhood memories are a treasure of life. They teach us, inspire us, and make life beautiful. I will always keep my childhood memories in my heart forever.

A Village Market

A village market is a place full of life and color. It is an important part of village life because it meets the daily needs of the people. Every week, villagers come to the market to buy and sell different goods. The market is usually open on one or two days a week and is very busy on those days.

Firstly, the village market has many small shops and stalls. People sell fresh vegetables, fruits, fish, meat, and spices. Farmers bring their crops like rice, potatoes, and lentils to sell. Women buy items for cooking and household use. The market is full of different smells and sounds that make it lively.

Secondly, the village market is not only a place for buying and selling but also a social place. People meet their friends and relatives there. They talk about village news and enjoy spending time together. Children also enjoy the market because there are sweet shops and sometimes small toys for sale.

Moreover, the market helps the village economy. It provides income for farmers and shopkeepers. It also creates jobs for many people like transport workers and helpers.

On the other hand, the market can be crowded and noisy. Sometimes it is hard to move because of so many people. But this crowd shows how important the market is to village life.

In conclusion, a village market is a busy and lively place. It is the heart of the village, helping people meet their daily needs and stay connected with each other. The market shows the true spirit of village life.

The Season I Like Most

Every season has its own beauty, but the season I like most is winter. Winter is very special to me because it is cool, fresh, and full of happiness. In Bangladesh, winter starts in December and lasts until February. This season brings a lot of joy and many reasons to love it.

Firstly, the weather in winter is very pleasant. The cold air feels fresh and clean. After the hot summer and rainy days, winter gives us relief. We can wear warm clothes like sweaters, jackets, and shawls to stay cozy. The mornings are cool and sometimes foggy, which makes the days peaceful.

Secondly, winter brings many special moments and activities. People enjoy drinking hot tea and eating warm foods like pitha and khichuri. Children love to play outside in the fresh air. Farmers work hard during this season because many crops grow well in winter. Winter also has important festivals like Eid-ul-Fitr and Christmas, which bring families and friends together.

Moreover, nature looks beautiful in winter. Trees have fresh green leaves, and flowers bloom in gardens. The sun shines softly, and the sky is often clear and blue. Birds sing happily in the cold air. Winter mornings feel calm and quiet, giving peace to our mind.

On the other hand, winter can be difficult for poor people who do not have enough warm clothes or food. We should always try to help them during this cold season.

Finally, winter is my favorite season because it brings comfort, happiness, and beautiful nature. I always enjoy this time of the year and wish it could last longer.

My dear Friend Yousuf,

At first take my cordial love. I hope you are fine by the grace of Almighty Allah. I am also fine. I got your email yesterday. Thank you for your email. In your letter you wanted to know about the picnic I enjoyed recently.

Last Friday, we went on a picnic to the Botanical Garden. All my classmates joined the picnic. We took food, games, and a camera with us. We sang songs, played games, and enjoyed the beauty of nature. The most interesting part was boating in the lake. We all were very happy and passed a joyful day. Truly, it was one of the best days of my life.

That's all for now. No more today. Wishing you good health, peaceful mind, and best of luck. Carry my best regards to your parents and affection to your brothers and sisters.

Subject: Request for Increasing the Facilities in the Laboratory

Dear Sir,

With due respect I want to state that I am a student of class 9 in your school. Our school has a science laboratory, but its facilities are not enough for all the students. We often face problems because there are not enough instruments and materials. As a result, many of us cannot do our experiments properly.

Therefore, I, on behalf of the students of class 9, kindly request you to increase the facilities in the laboratory. If you add more instruments, chemicals, and seating arrangements, it will help us learn science in a better way and improve our results.

I hope you will take necessary steps to solve this problem as soon as possible.

Yours faithfully,

To your friend describing the importance of games and sports.

Dhaka, Bangladesh.

22 August 2025

My dear Rahim,

I hope you are doing well. I am fine here by the grace of Almighty Allah.

I want to tell you about the importance of games and sports. Playing games keeps our body healthy and strong. It also helps us stay active and energetic. Sports teach us teamwork, discipline, and how to face challenges. We also make new friends while playing together. I try to play football and badminton every evening, and I feel very happy and relaxed afterward. You should also join some games regularly.

No more for today. Take care and write to me soon.

To your friend describing the severe impact of dengue fever.

Dhaka, Bangladesh.

23 August 2025

My dear Rafi,

I hope you are well. I am also fine by the grace of Almighty Allah.

Today I want to tell you about the severe impact of dengue fever. It has become a great problem in our country. Every year many people suffer from this disease. Dengue is caused by the bite of Aedes mosquito. Its attack is very dangerous.

The patient feels high fever, pain in the body, headache, and sometimes bleeding. Many patients have to stay in the hospital for a long time. Sadly, some people even lose their lives. To prevent dengue, we must keep our surroundings clean, destroy mosquito breeding places, and use nets or sprays.

So, we all should be careful and aware to save ourselves and others from this disease.

No more today. Take care and write to me soon.

Yours lovingly,

Razin

Bread dividing by cunning monkey

Once two rats found a piece of bread. They couldn't agree on how to divide it, because each of them wanted the largest share. They quarrelled for some times. Suddenly, they saw a monkey passing by. They asked the monkey to divide the bread between them.

The monkey was very clever. He said, "It is really a difficult task." He brought a pair of scales. He divided the bread into two pieces and put them on the scales. One-piece was heavier than the other. He took a small bite from the heavier piece and put them again on the scales. This time the other piece was heavier. So, he took a small bite from that piece, but still, the pieces were unequal. So, he did the same thing again and again. Soon there was only a very small piece of bread left. "Stop! Stop!" shouted the rats. "You are eating all our bread! Give back the piece of bread. We will divide it ourselves." The monkey said angrily, "I have done a lot of work for you. So, I must take this little piece as my wage." Saying this, he ate up the piece of bread and went away.

The King and the Palmist Story

Once upon a time, there was a king who was very fond of knowing his future from astrologers. A good astrologer happened to stop at his capital on his way to Benaras. The king called on him to know his future. The palmist said something upsetting.

At this, the king got Upset and punished him to death, saying. A man like you should not live to spoil the peace of the world. But another thought crossed his mind before the palmist was taken for execution. How long would you live? Asked the king.

He then thought for a while for some way of escape. He thought that the king would prove him a liar, putting him to death. With a ready wit, he said, The stars declare that I shall die. Only a week before, Your Majesty. So goodbye.

I shall receive Your Majesty where you are sending me. At this, the king turned Colorless as death and shouted, Drive this Unlucky person away- let him not come again. As a result, the palmist saved his life with his Sharp mind.

moral: Quick thinking can save a life.

Honesty is the Best Policy

Once There lived a poor wood cutter in a village. One day he was cutting wood near a river. Suddenly his axe fell into the river. The river was very deep. The wood cutter did not know how to swim or dive. So, he was sitting there sadly. Then a wonderful thing happened.

A beautiful fairy appeared before the woodcutter. She was the goddess of water. She asked him Why are you crying? The wood-cutter said, My axe has fallen into the river. Now my family will starve if I can not cut wood. So I am crying. The water goddess felt sorry for him.

She jumped into the water and came back with a silver axe. She asked, Is this your axe? The wood-cutter saw the axe and said. It is not mine. The water goddess dived again and came back with another axe made of gold. She asked, Is this the axe that you have lost?

The wood-cutter said, No, it is also not mine. The water goddess again dived into the water and brought up an iron axe. He showed it to the woodcutter and asked, Is this yours? The wood cutter became very pleased to see his axe. He said, Yes, this axe is mine. Please give it to me.

The water goddess became very pleased with the honesty of the woodcutter. She gave him all the three axes. Then the wood-cutter became rich and began to live happily.

Who Will Bell The Cat

Once upon a time, in a small village, there was an old house where many little mouse live. These mouse are making a lot of problem—eating food, cutting clothes, and disturbing the people in the house. The owner of the house got really frustrated. He tried everything but couldn't get out of them, so he decided to bring a cat to catch the mouse.

As soon as the cat arrived in the house, the mouse became scared and don't come out of their hiding places anymore. They were too afraid of being caught.

One day, the mouse start a meeting to figure out how to deal with the cat. Each mouse have a different idea, but nothing to work.

Then a young mouse stand up and said, I have an idea! What if we put a bell on the cat neck? That way when the cat move we'll hear the bell sound and we can run away before it come close to us.

All the other mouse thing it was a great idea. They are very happy with the young mouse for being so smart. But then, an older mouse asked, That a good plan, but who will put the bell on the cat neck.

Everyone became quiet. No one was strong enough to go near the cat and put the bell on its neck. Since they couldn't figure out a way to do it, the mouse give up on the idea and eventually left the house to find a safer place to live.

A bad company makes a man bad

A man had a son who had some bad friends and he passed all his time with them. The father was very sorry for his son. He gave his son much advice to leave the bad company and to give attention to study. But the boy did not follow the advice.

Another day the man said to his son that a man is known by his company and if he mixes with bad boys, people would think him bad, but the advice went in vain.

One day the father asked the boy to bring some coal with his own hands. He then showed him the blackish hands. Then he asked him to bring a rose. His hands then smelled good. The man said to his son that the good smell was only for the rose.

But any of the advice did not bring any result. So, another day the man had to make another plan. One day the man bought some ripe mangoes but one of them was rotten. He told his son to eat the ripe mangoes the next day. The man kept all the mangoes in a cupboard with the rotten one. The next morning the man asked the boy to eat mangoes. The boy went to the cupboard and saw that all the mangoes were rotten. He told his father about this. The father said to his son, "You see, my boy! All the mangoes are rotten within a right. But when I bought them they were quite good. The mangoes came in contact with the rotten mango and turned rotten within a short time. I know you're a good boy, but soon you'll turn into a bad boy by your bad company. What have you learnt from it?"

"A bad company makes a man bad," replied the boy. From that day, the boy did not mix with bad boys."

Dialogues from book

Write a dialogue between two friends about load shedding.

Salam: Good night, friend. How are you?

Salma: Good night. I am fine. But you?

Salam: I am also fine. What are you doing now?

Salma: I am sitting in the dark now.

Salam: Why?

Salma: No electricity.

Salam: We don't have electricity here either.

Salma: The electricity in our area just comes and goes.

Salam: We have the same situation here. Actually, load shedding is going on all over the country.

Salma: What is load shedding?

Salam: Load shedding means discontinuation of electricity. When the power supply is less than the demand it is called load shedding. At present load shedding is a major problem in Bangladesh. It has made our lives unbearable.

Salma: What are the causes of load shedding?

Salam: Less electricity generation compared to demand, unplanned distribution of electricity, illegal connections, system losses, wastage of electricity, and corruption are the main causes of load shedding.

Salma: What happens due to load shedding?

Salam: Due to load shedding, life comes to a standstill, factories don't run, the wheels of the cars, don't turn and the operation of dying patients stops running. Due to load shedding, students are particularly affected. But all suffer more or less load from shedding.

Salma: What can be done to solve the problem of load shedding now?

Salam: The government should take the necessary steps to solve the problem of load shedding. And for this more and more electricity has to be produced. If necessary, new power plants should be set up.

Salma: What else to do?

Salam: Illegal electricity connections should be disconnected. Above all, people should be aware of load shedding. Only government action can solve the load-shedding problem.

Salma: Thank you for telling me about load shedding in detail.

Salam: Welcome.

Write a dialogue between Rahim and Karim about the importance of tree plantation.

Karim: Hello, Rahim.

Rahim: How are you?

Karim: I am fine, thank you. And you?

Rahim: I am also fine. Thank you too.

Tree sapling

Karim: Where did you go yesterday?

Rahim: I went to Dhaka to attend a seminar on the importance of tree plantation.

Karim: Oh, very good. Would you please tell me about the importance of tree plantation?

Rahim: Of course. Trees play an important role in our environment. We cannot live without trees.

Karim: I see.

Rahim: Trees are very helpful in our daily life. Trees give us oxygen. They give us food and fruits. They also provide us shelter. We get timber from trees. They also prevent air pollution. Trees protect the world from the harmful greenhouse effect.

Karim: Really, Trees are very useful for us.

Rahim: Some people cut down trees for wood, fuel, and food. Thus, they are losing their great friend, and nature is losing its beauty.

Tree sapling

Karim: How can we solve this?

Rahim: Tree plantation means planting trees more and more. We have a lot of empty places for tree plantation. There are many roads and highways in the country. We can plant trees on both sides of the roads and highways.

Karim: I see. Can you tell me when is the best time of tree plantation?

Rahim: Yes, June and July are the best time for tree plantation. But we can plant trees all year round.

Tree sapling

Karim: I have understand. To preserve our environment, we should plant more and more trees.

Rahim: Very good.

Karim: Thank you very much for your good information.

Rahim: You are most welcome.

Tree sapling

Karim: Take care. Goodbye.

Rahim: you also take care. Goodbye.

dialogue between two friends eradicating the illiteracy problem from Bangladesh

Monir: Hi Sakib, how are you?

Sakib: I'm fine. You?

Monir: Fine too, but worried about our country's big problem—illiteracy.

Sakib: Yes, it's a curse. Without education, no nation can develop.

Monir: True. It also increases poverty and unemployment.

Sakib: And people don't know their rights. Gender discrimination also grows.

Monir: So how do we solve it?

Sakib: Only by making people educated.

Monir: We need strong programs and awareness.

Sakib: Government is trying—free books, compulsory education, stipend for girls.

Monir: That's good, but many poor parents still don't send children to school.

Sakib: Yes, that's why "Food for Education" was started.

Monir: Great step. But everyone—not just govt.—must help.

Sakib: Right. If we work together, we can remove illiteracy.

Monir: Exactly. Thank you.

Sakib: See you.

Write a dialogue between you and your friend about the benefits of morning walk.

Dolly: Good morning. How are you?

Polly: Good morning. I'm well.

Dolly: What are you doing at this moment?

Polly: I am still lying on the bed but not sleeping.

Dolly: Don't you go out for a morning walk?

Polly: No, I have never thought about it. But why are you asking me this question?

Dolly: By walking in the morning for a week, I have got many benefits.

Polly: Really? What are the benefits of the morning walk? Does the morning walk have any real benefits for our health?

Dolly: Of course. Morning walk has many health benefits. It is a good exercise. It improves our cardiovascular problems, increases muscle strength and even reduces weight.

Polly: Very well. I didn't know that before. Does the morning walk have any mental benefits?

Dolly: Yes, there is. Morning walk is also very beneficial for our mental health. It reduces our stress, anxiety and depression. Besides, the fresh air of the morning cheers the mind.

Polly: I was amazed to hear about the benefits of the morning walk from you. From now on, I will walk every morning. Thank you so much for telling me about the benefits of the morning walk.

Dolly: Welcome.

A Dialogue Between Two Friends on Importance of Punctuality

Sujon: Hi Jamiya! How are you?

Jamiya: I'm fine. And you?

Sujon: I'm not fine. I missed many classes and now I can't understand the lessons. Exams are near.

Jamiya: That's really a problem. I was regular and punctual, so I don't face such trouble.

Sujon: I realize I made a big mistake. I thought I could prepare before exams.

Jamiya: Punctuality is very important. Without it, students can't do well.

Sujon: True. I didn't even finish my practical papers. I feel hopeless now.

Jamiya: If you had been punctual, you wouldn't be in this situation.

Sujon: Now I understand the importance of punctuality in student life.

Jamiya: Yes, student life is the best time to build this habit. If not, one must suffer.

Sujon: Punctual students earn respect and always stay ahead in life.

Jamiya: Right! It also helps to use time properly and reduce pressure before exams.

Sujon: I'll try to be punctual from now on. It's the only way to succeed.

Jamiya: Very good. If you follow this, you will surely do better.

Sujon: Absolutely right. Thanks for your advice.

Jamiya: You're welcome. See you again.

Subject: Complaint about Reckless Driving in the City

Dear Sir,

With due respect I want to state that reckless driving has become a serious problem in our city. Every day many drivers break traffic rules and drive at high speed without caring for the safety of passengers and pedestrians. This reckless driving often causes accidents and loss of valuable lives. The students, office workers, and general people suffer a lot from this unsafe situation.

Therefore, I request you to kindly publish this complaint in your widely read newspaper so that the authority may take strict steps to control reckless driving and ensure road safety.

I hope you will consider this matter seriously for the greater benefit of the city dwellers.

Yours faithfully,

Subject: Complaint about the Massive Deforestation in the District

Dear Sir,

With due respect I want to state that massive deforestation has become a serious problem in our district. Every day a large number of trees are being cut down for wood, fuel, and construction. As a result, the balance of nature is being destroyed. This also causes soil erosion, loss of wildlife, and increases the risk of floods and climate change. People are already suffering from less rainfall and rising temperature.

Therefore, I request you to kindly publish this complaint in your esteemed newspaper to draw the attention of the proper authority. If strict steps are not taken, the situation will become worse in the near future.

I hope you will take this matter seriously for the greater interest of the environment and the people.

Yours faithfully,

Istiyaq Khan Razin

Write a letter to your friend thanking him for his hospitality

Dhaka, Bangladesh.

23 August 2025

My dear Rafi,

I hope you are fine. I am also fine by the grace of Almighty Allah.

I am writing to thank you for your kind hospitality during my visit to your house. I really enjoyed my stay with you and your family. Everyone was so kind, friendly, and caring that I felt like I was at my own home.

The food your mother prepared was very delicious. Your father's advice and your friendly company made my days cheerful. I also loved playing games with you in the afternoon.

Truly, those days will remain memorable in my life.

Please convey my thanks and respect to your parents. I hope I can host you at my home someday.

No more today. Take care and write soon.

Yours lovingly,

Write a letter to your friend telling him what you would like to do after your SSC examination

Dhaka, Bangladesh.

23 August 2025

My dear Rafi,

I hope you are well. I am also fine by the grace of Almighty Allah.

I am writing to share with you what I would like to do after my SSC examination. After a long time of study, I want to take some rest and enjoy my free time. At first, I will read some good storybooks and magazines. I also want to improve my English and computer skills because these will help me in future life.

Besides, I am planning to join a coaching center to prepare myself for the college admission test. I may also travel to my village home and spend some happy days with my grandparents. These plans will surely make my time useful and enjoyable.

No more today. Take care and write to me soon.

Yours lovingly,

Write a letter to your friend describing the annual sports recently held in your school.

Dhaka, Bangladesh.

23 August 2025

My dear Rafi,

I hope you are fine. I am also fine by the grace of Almighty Allah.

I want to share with you about our annual sports that was held last week in our school. It was a very joyful and exciting day for all of us. The field was decorated with flags, balloons, and banners. Many students took part in different events like races, high jump, long jump, and tug of war.

I also joined the 100-meter race and came second. The teachers and guests enjoyed the whole program. At the end, our headmaster gave prizes to the winners. The best part was the friendly football match between class 9 and class 10. Everyone clapped and cheered loudly. It was really a memorable day full of fun and happiness. I will never forget it. I wish you were with us to enjoy it.

No more today. Take care and write to me soon.

Yours lovingly,

Razin
